Description:

The Dracena, also known as the dragon tree, impresses with its slender stems and long, narrow leaves, which give it an expressive and elegant presence. Due to this growth habit, it is a popular indoor greenery.

The artificial version from Europalms is an easy-care alternative to the real plant and is made entirely from plastic. Three stems are arranged in a simple plant pot, with the middle one branching out several times in the upper section. This ensures a particularly lush and lively appearance. At the same time, the leaves underline the elegant look of the artificial plant with their natural-looking coloring and set stylish accents. Whether as an elegant decorative element in the living area, as a modern design element in offices or as stylish greenery in catering areas - it adapts effortlessly to any environment.

Thanks to a clever solution that ensures space-saving packaging, only the head of the central section needs to be inserted into a marked stem when setting up the artificial plant.
